So very now

Pantone 17-3938 or Very Peri as it's better known is Pantone's Colour of the Year for 2022.

Described as "a dynamic periwinkle blue hue with a vivifying violet red" Very Peri is said to "encourage personal inventiveness and creativity."

Colour of the Year 2022

Very Peri makes the perfect backdrop when planning a new kitchen scheme where you can then add a contrasting sense of freshness with gloss white cabinets, soft grey worktops and products like our Maris Bowl range (page 16) and Matt Black taps (page 34).

PANTONE

Head for the forest, look to the skies

Given our continuing desire to better connect with nature, it's no wonder that Forest Green is a popular colour choice right now. With a confident depth and rich lushness, choosing Forest Green can bring a calming ambiance to any space.

For contrast, add splashes of burnt or berry red. Or for something more complementary, try a softer green hue, such as the Matt Dusty green finish of our Smart Deco Hood.

If you like things a little brighter, the Smart Deco is also available in a warm Matt Mustard Yellow finish which works wonderful with Bright Skies – the fresh airy tone names the Dulux Colour of the Year 2022.

Get a handle on colour

Metallics are an enduring trend and in the kitchen space, choosing copper, gold and brass handles, lighting, switches and other fittings is a great way to introduce more colour. Alongside this, it's worth considering a tap like our Minerva 4-in-1 boiling tap in sparkling Champagne Gold.

Be industrious

When it comes to long lasting kitchen trends, the industrial look has never gone out of style.

The combination of bold black and white and the occasional splash of grey gives a kitchen a real sense of grandeur and provides the perfect base to build a look that's all your own.

To offset these contrasting colours, add metallic touches in your handle, lighting and tap choices, with a design like the Active tap which is available in a choice of spout designs and contemporary finishes.

Welcome to the country

Give your kitchen a warm, inviting feel with an authentic country cottage style – think classic shaker cabinetry and timeless Belfast sinks. Start with mustard yellow shaker units with brushed brass handles, swap tiles for wood panelling and accessorise with vintage finds. Then add a smooth ceramic sink such as our Kubus KBK undermount, in a choice of Gloss White, Matt Pearl Grey or Graphite finishes teamed up with our Krios swivel spout in Brass.

Think serene, go green

A reflection of nature, green represents growth and renewal, harmony and peace and more currently, sustainability. Green schemes evoke feelings of calmness, serenity and balance. And where better to do this than the kitchen?

Award winning interior designer and Franke blogger Donna Casey says that when planning a green kitchen, you should decide whether to apply colour to your cabinets, walls or both.

Those preferring to proceed with a little more caution should establish the base colour of your units and introduce colour to the walls, splashback and kitchen accessories.

Speaking of which, introduce some gold or brass accents such as handles, lighting, sockets, or taps like Franke's Minerva Helix 4-in-1 Electronic tap in Champagne Gold and the Bridge Lever tap in Brass. The contrasting richness of dark green and gold will result in a stylish and sophisticated design.

Holiday at home

Fancy bringing the holiday vibe to your home? Conjure up images of inviting seas and laidback tavernas by teaming up azure blue cabinets with mosaic tiles and add warmth with natural materials such as wood, rattan and terracotta. Hardware-wise, go for a contemporary clutter-free look with a modern chrome mixer tap such as the Atlas Neo Sensor and a minimalist sink like the flushmount Mythos.

50 Year Guarantee

For a more sustainable, socially responsible world

From adopting manufacturing methods that generate less waste and reduce our impact, to innovative products designed to cut water and energy usage and reduce landfill, Franke are doing all we can to create a more sustainable world.

How hoods can help

As well as keeping kitchens free of unwanted steam and odours, many of our extraction hoods – including our Maris Drip Free, Maris 2gether and AQ Sense range – are not just beautifully designed. Featuring highly efficient motors and A++ ratings, they're also designed to deliver a powerful performance while using less energy.

Fitting a filter tap reduces plastic use

Filter taps such as our Vital Capsule System are an ideal way to reduce single use plastics. Offering clean filtered water on demand, homeowners no longer need to buy bottled water, saving money and reducing waste in one.

See page 26 for more information.

The many benefits of instant boiling water taps

More efficient than constantly using a kettle, an instant boiling water tap like our Minerva 4-in-1 design can help to save both water and energy. Plus, by removing kettles from the kitchen environment, they can free up space and leave worktops less cluttered.

See page 24 for more information.

WDUs mean less waste going to landfill

Landfill has long been an issue, with decomposing waste causing greenhouse gases and potentially polluting water and the soil. However, a waste disposal unit (WDU) can prevent this by liquifying organic waste so it can be harmlessly flushed into the sewers.

See page 42 for more information.

The water-saving Atlas Neo Sensor

The Atlas Neo Sensor tap boasts many great features, including one aimed at reducing water wastage. Operated with a wave of the hand, the tap will run for a maximum of 30 seconds before cutting off. However, a second wave in front of the infrared sensor is all that's needed to stop the flow sooner.

See page 29 for more information.

Recycling sorted

Helping to make recycling even easier, kitchen waste sorter bins are a neat addition to help you separate out cans, plastic, glass, card, paper and other precious resources so they can be used again. Easy to install, the attached lids help to prevent odours.

See page 43 for more information.

Designed to last

In today's often disposable society it can be reassuring to find products that are still clearly built to last for the long term. And by utilising the best quality materials and manufacturing techniques, Franke sinks come guaranteed for 50 years.

For all Franke product guarantees see page 44.

WDU's mean less landfill

When it comes to creating a more sustainable future, reducing landfill is key. And adding a waste disposal unit (WDU) to your kitchen is a great way to tackle food waste that would otherwise end up in the rubbish bin.

Why choose a WDU?

Easy kitchen cleaning

Preparing food and cleaning up after meals is a lot easier with a food waste disposer. Food scraps go straight in the sink, instead of the rubbish bin.

Easy to operate

Just turn on the cold tap, switch on the WDU, then drop the food scraps down the drain. It's that easy. The WDU liquifies and flushes the food waste into the sewage or septic system. It's safe too, with no blades or knives waste disposal units are among the safest appliances available.

Keep the kitchen hygienic

A kitchen should be an inviting place. But wet messy food waste left in the rubbish bin can attract pests and create unpleasant odours. By using a WDU, you can keep your kitchen hygienically clean.

Waste food facts

Helping tackle food waste, the following facts demonstrate why fitting a waste disposal unit makes such good sense.

UK households generate an estimated 6.6 million tonnes of food and drink waste annually.

19% of food and drink brought into the home ends up as kitchen waste.

On average, each household produces 270 kg of food waste a year, or 5kg per week.

4.6m tonnes (64%) is collected by Local Authorities each year, mainly through kerbside collection (98%).

Food waste represents 19% of the entire waste stream for Local Authorities.

17m tonnes of CO² equivalent of greenhouse gas emissions is generated by food waste.

Sorter 300-60 Trio

Recycling sorted

Helping to make recycling even easier, our kitchen waste sorter bins are a neat addition to help you separate out cans, plastic, glass, paper and other precious resources so they can be used again.

Easy to install, the attached lids help to prevent odours and some models include filters to further tackle unpleasant smells.

Prices from £334

A neater way to deal with food waste
